Your interactive residents' manual

Every development needs a manual. It's not just polite, or expected. It may be the only reminder that you were the company that constructed the property. A manual is your heritage. In use long after the contractors have gone.

Why choose Home Cube?

Home Cube protects your heritage, with a working manual that can adapt as the years go by.

Home Cube contains all the information that owners need to enjoy and maintain their properties.

Every room.
Every appliance.
Every component.
Everything explained. In detail.

Home Cube lists specifications, serial numbers, user manuals and important contact information. And it can link to manufacturers' websites, so residents have constant access to updated information.

From how to use the television set, to how to fix the doorbell and the name of a trusted plumber, the manual contains it all.

Who's it for?

Home Cube is specially designed for residential developers. Commercial developers could also benefit with Home Cube Commercial.

Accessing Home Cube

Home Cube is supplied on CD, DVD, or on a secure server accessible only by residents.

And all branded with your logo and company information.
